Disrupting Unconscious Bias:
A Primer for Men and Women - Workshop

Unconscious biases shape our worldview and our expectations of others. And they’re so very prevalent in all of us. The disconcerting fact is that those unconscious biases can be contrary to our conscious beliefs.

Unconscious bias is present and active every second of our lives and impacts literally thousands of decisions we make daily. Men and women now represent a roughly 50/50 mix in the workplace. Understanding gender differences, rather than choosing to ignore them, will help progressive companies to drive more revenue, increase operating profit and enhance their corporate reputation.

This interactive workshop is designed not just explore the concept of unconscious bias, but to take a deep dive specifically into gender. Session participants will leave with the ability to:

1. Discuss the concepts and principles that drive unconscious bias
2. Understand the specific implications of unconscious bias through a gender lens
3. Write an action plan to uncover, manage and leverage gender as a competitive advantage
